

From the Desk of Dr. Sharon Ohree Earley

August 4, 2022

Timing is everything! It's been over 20 years since I've been encouraging, uplifting and provoking women of all walks of life to embrace their purpose. In 1996, my pastor 'peeped' into my future and asked me to start the women's ministry at the church. It's been ongoing every since.

Throughout the years, no matter how much I tried to deny it and run, women's ministry always found me. Whether I was counseling, doing a food drive, editing books, speaking at an event or organizing a seminar; it all seemed to be geared towards women issues pertaining to social change. I later studied, how Jesus came to defy and change the social climate of his day.

What stood out for me while on my journey was that no one can do an effective work alone. While the climate around us may seem chaotic, I believe that, we are on the brink of change. A change that will inject a hope and a future that will impact generations to come; with a confidence to press and pursue as their generation dictates. They will continue to and walk in a legacy of which they can be proud.

Since the inception of Women's Empowerment, Inc. I have been blessed to have amazing women trailblazers pour into my life. They each have imparted wisdom and direction for the course the Lord would have me. Namely, my mother Catherine Ohree, who is a great example of resilience and strength. Apostle Elizabeth Hairston-McBurrows Founder of The Apostolic Prophetic Connection (who ordained me as prophet). Apostle Hairston-McBurrows introduced me to international ministry and blessed me to work and walk alongside her as her

International Assistant. Dr. Virgie Binford, who as a young girl would have me in her home, sharing stories of her world travels and always (each time I visited) told me that I was going to be a “mover and a shaker”. I stand on the shoulder of too many others to name.

I absolutely am grateful, for the founding boarding of Women’s Empowerment, Inc. Patrice Brandon, Katia Bryant and Mary Rodriquez. Each with her amazing gifts and talents, pushed me forward, traveled with me, but most importantly believed in the work the Lord had given. Lastly, I remember speaking with Dr. E. Faye Williams, Esq. President of the National Congress of Black Woman, she shared such wisdom with me that gave me the necessary nudge I needed to move forward.

In 2020, Women’s Empowerment, Inc. decided to operate as Women’s Empowerment for Social Change to give clarity and allow our work to be more focused. We welcome anyone who, after going over our website, feel they want to be a part and walk alongside us and empower others.

Are you a change agent who needs help making change? Have you had an unction to go the next level and carry others on your shoulders, as we stand on the shoulders of those who labored before us? I am convinced that, if you are a change agent, business woman, mother, wife, minister, advocate, a leader in your community and need to get connected with others to fulfill your purpose, you will greatly benefit from being a part of Women’s Empowerment Inc. You can reach us through our website’s contact us page or via email at wempowerinc@usa.com.

Your set time is NOW. I am so excited for us to forge ahead together.

Staying the course,
